

places

a few figures around a warm glow

PLACEHOLDER · ART TO COME

the campfire

A small group, sharing.

places

a small den, low light, a person tucked in

the cave

Somewhere quiet, just for you.

places

the whole landscape holding the other four

the habitat

The world around it all — steady, sensory-safe.

places

shelves, maps, a book held open

PLACEHOLDER · ART TO COME

the library

Where we keep what we've figured out.

places

figures resting easy near water

the watering hole

A soft place to pause and be near people.

places

a blank card and a pencil

your own

A space that isn't here yet.

a small figure at the foot of a giant step, or in a doorway that looms huge — looking up at a crossing that feels too big

big step

This next step feels too big.

weather

clear sky, open light

bright

Clear and good right now.

weather

sparks, too many at once

buzzy

Too much coming in.

weather

a figure with a faint, muffled question mark glowing at the belly and chest

can't tell

My body's telling me something, but I can't tell what.

a small figure at the end of a long view

PLACEHOLDER · ART TO COME

far-away

A bit distant, floating off.

weather

bubbles rising inside, a fizzing glass — excitement on the inside

fizzy

Bubbly and excited inside.

weather

low mist, edges blurred

foggy

Hard to think, everything's slow.

weather

a jar filled to the brim

full

No more room inside.

weather

a figure mid-flap, hands blurred with motion, bright sparks of joy
around them

happy flappy

So happy my body has to move.

weather

a weighted sky pressing down

heavy

Low and weighed down.

weather

a figure deep in something, the world softened to a warm glow
around them

in the zone

Deep in it, and it feels good.

weather

a meerkat standing tall on the lookout, ears up, scanning for danger

PLACEHOLDER · ART TO COME

meerkat

On alert, watching for danger.

weather

a figure reaching outward in a muted, empty space, movement lines around them

PLACEHOLDER · ART TO COME

need more

Everything's too flat and still — I need more.

weather

a figure with bright, present eyes and a softly closed mouth, the voice curled up quiet inside

PLACEHOLDER · ART TO COME

no words right now

The words won't come right now.

weather

thorns, everything scratches

prickly

Everything's rubbing the wrong way.

a small figure with arrows tugging outward in every direction at once

PLACEHOLDER · ART TO COME

pulled every way

Too many things pulling at me at once.

weather

a single looping line spiralling inward — a thought going round and round

PLACEHOLDER · ART TO COME

round and round

A thought that won't stop going round.

weather

a hand holding the last one or two spoons, the rest of the day's already used up — running low, still here, not broken

running on empty

I'm running low right now.

weather

big clouds about to break

stormy

Big feelings, close to the edge.

a small figure with a soft, sore glow along their skin, flinching as a tiny word lands nearby like a dropped pebble

tender

A small thing hurt a lot right now.

a small figure wanting to fold inward as soft gazes turn toward them from every side

too seen

Being looked at is a lot right now.

weather

a cozy glow, wrapped up

warm

Settled and safe.

weather

a blank card and a pencil

your own

A feeling that isn't here yet.

what helps

deep pressure, a weighted wrap

a big squeeze

Firm pressure that steadies me.

what helps

a small figure tucked into a corner, walls on two sides

a corner

Somewhere with sides, at my back.

what helps

a blanket or umbrella making a little roof overhead

a den

Something over me to tuck under.

what helps

a hand near a scented thing

a smell that helps

A smell that settles me, or less of one.

what helps

a cup and a small snack

a snack or a drink

Something to eat or drink.

what helps

a gentle repeating wave

a steady sound

A calm sound to rest on.

what helps

an open door

a way out

A way to leave that I can use.

what helps

a hand pointing at a card, next to a small whiteboard

another way to talk

Let me point, write, or show it.

what helps

a fidget in motion

busy hands

Something for my hands to do.

what helps

a dial lowering a lamp

dim the light

Softer light.

what helps

a wall of too many identical doors, with a hand gently sliding all but two aside — a big choice made small and doable

fewer choices

Fewer things to choose from.

what helps

headphones, the noise turned down

headphones

Turn the world down a bit.

what helps

two figures, side by side

just one person

Not a crowd — one person.

what helps

the same few things set out in the same order each morning — same cup, same seat — a familiar path worn smooth

PLACEHOLDER · ART TO COME

keep it the same

The same way as before.

what helps

a hushed mouth, a calm face

less talking

Fewer words for a while.

what helps

a busy, cluttered wall beside a calm bare one

less to look at Fewer things to look at.

a figure stepping out through an open doorway and back in — a loop of coming and going

let me come and go

Let me join and slip away as I need.

what helps

a hand resting on a dimmer switch

PLACEHOLDER · ART TO COME

let me control it

Let me be the one to change it.

what helps

a bookmark being slid into place — a natural stopping point reached

let me finish

Let me get to a stopping point first.

what helps

a figure rocking and moving, easy in their own motion

let me stim

Let me move and stim the way I need.

what helps

a figure gently lowering a smiling paper mask away from their face — behind it, their own softer, real expression, shoulders easing, warm and relieved, never scary

PLACEHOLDER · ART TO COME

let me unmask

Let me drop the mask here.

what helps

a marked place that's mine

PLACEHOLDER · ART TO COME

my own spot

A place that's just mine.

what helps

a slow, easy clock

no rush

All the time I need.

a figure settled easy at the edge of the room while a beam of attention points somewhere else

PLACEHOLDER · ART TO COME

no spotlight

Please don't put me on the spot.

what helps

a single thing on a clear table

one thing at a time

One thing, then the next.

what helps

two figures side by side, each in their own world

parallel existence

Someone alongside me, each doing our own thing.

what helps

open floor, space to pace or spin

room to move

Space to move my body.

what helps

a straight arrow, not a curving one

say it straight

Say what you mean.

what helps

a floor cushion, a wobble stool, and someone standing

PLACEHOLDER · ART TO COME

sit my way

Let me sit or stand how I like.

what helps

a plush thing to hold

something soft

Something to hold and squeeze.

what helps

a chewy tool

something to chew

Something to chew or crunch.

what helps

a small heads-up sign

tell me first

Let me know before it changes.

what helps

a blanket on one side, a fan on the other

the right temperature

Warmer, or cooler.

what helps

a blank card and a pencil

your own

Something else that helps.

 lily pad

a closed, contented loop

all done

I'm finished here.

 lily pad

a footprint returning to a spot

coming back

I'll be back — hold my place.

 lily pad

a figure resting on a lily pad

PLACEHOLDER · ART TO COME

i need a minute

Pausing here. Not leaving.

 lily pad

a figure settled on a lily pad

i want to stay a while

I'm good here. Let me stay.

 lily pad

a gentle raised hand

not yet

I'm not ready to move.

 lily pad

a foot stepping forward

ready now

I'm ready to shift.

 lily pad

a gentle bridge between two pads

slowly

Ease me across, one step.

 lily pad

a figure paused between two pads

stuck

I can't get going. That's okay.

 lily pad

eyes at the edge of a group

watch first

Let me look before I join.

 lily pad

a blank card and a pencil

your own

A moment that isn't here yet.

 grower

a dandelion thriving in a crack

dandelion

I can grow most places.

 grower

an orchid in its own conditions

orchid

Give me my conditions and I bloom.

 grower

a tulip in a tended bed

tulip

I do well with the right care.

 grower

a blank card and a pencil

your own

Another way of growing.
